[Build your professional expertise! Develop your own competitiveness through various job training programs!]

This past semester, we offered a structured curriculum ranging from basic employment education to specialized workforce training, providing an opportunity to elevate skills to the next level.

In the basic employment education program, we provided information about industries in Korea where marriage immigrants can showcase their abilities. Meanwhile, the specialized workforce training focused on certification programs that enable participants to grow into professional caregivers. Shall we take a look at the vivid testimonials from those who participated in the training?

“Thank you, Seoul Family Center.” I am Cheon Liz, currently in my first month living in Korea. While I was busy adjusting to the new environment, I came across the news that the Seoul Family Center offers global business education programs, and I decided to enroll.	“New Job, Taking on a New Challenge.” My name is Shin Ok-boon and I have been living in Korea for 10 years. I am currently attending a job fair and taking training to try out for a new job. The Seoul Family Center is the first

At first, I was worried that I wouldn't be able to follow the class because my Korean is not good, but fortunately, my teacher, Mr. Choi, was very considerate of me. He explained things slowly and in simple Korean so that I could understand, so I was able to follow the class content well. In particular, it was a great help in increasing my overall understanding of global business, and there was a lot of practical content that I could apply to my actual work.

The lunch provided by the center was truly delicious, and sharing the meal with other participants offered a wonderful opportunity to deepen my understanding of Korean culture.

Thanks to the Seoul Family Center, my life in Korea has become much more enriching. I look forward to participating in more diverse programs in the future.

institution to visit for marriage immigrants, providing assistance with their initial settlement after arriving in Korea. Through the center, immigrants of various nationalities can learn a great deal about Korea.

Starting here is like fastening the first button correctly, setting the right foundation for their journey.

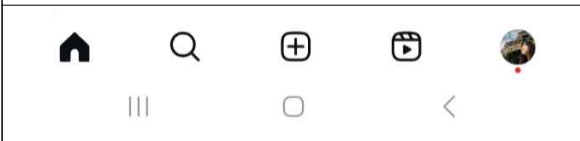

Employment can feel like a high barrier for marriage immigrants, but I recommend visiting the center to achieve your employment goals. Through the center, I completed job training programs for Shop Master and Insurance Planner courses.

Through the training, I learned the importance of foundational education for employment and selecting the right career path. The Shop Master program provided me with diverse training, including body type-specific styling, store management, and customer service skills.

The Insurance Planner training taught me about the different types of insurance, insurance consulting, and the importance of health management, which helped me gain confidence.

I hope all of you can achieve your dreams of employment success through training as well. Thank you.

“Starting a new career with support from Seoul Family Center”

Hello, I am So Hyo Geun, who has been living in Korea for 6 years. Since I was laid off from my previous job in early July, I have been preparing for a new career by taking various training courses offered by the Seoul Family Center. I have taken several courses, including the Fashion Specialist Course and the Insurance Planner Course, and have also attended job fairs.

The networking and career trend education provided by Seoul Family Center had a huge positive impact on starting my new career and understanding my personal career direction. In particular, it was really helpful to be able to receive customized counseling as a foreigner. The 1:1 resume counseling provided here was very helpful to me and helped me write my resume more effectively.

Beyond the physical support, meeting and encouraging teachers here has been a great help in starting my new career. Their support has helped me move forward with more confidence. In addition, networking opportunities with various people have allowed me to keep up with the latest trends in the professional world, which has been a great help in my career development.

Thanks to this support from the Seoul Family Center, I gained the courage to take on new challenges and have a clear direction for my future career. I am deeply grateful to the Seoul Family Center for providing friendly and professional services to foreigners. I hope that many foreigners will continue to receive help from here and build successful careers.

“Hospital Companion Manager Level 1 Passing Review”

Hello. My name is Vuong Thi Thu Hang from Vietnam. I applied for the Level 1 Hospital Companion Manager training course after finding out through the internet that the Seoul Family Center Multicultural Family Employment-Focused Agency offers various programs for married immigrants and even issues certificates.

Through the lecture, I learned the importance of hospital companion managers, and I think it will be a promising job for the future. In particular, these days in Korea, with the aging population, the increase in single-person households, and the increase in immigrants, I think it will be a job that will be helpful for those who have difficulty going to the hospital alone. Now, I feel more confident as much as I learned when I went to the hospital with patients, and I think I will be able to work hard without repeating the parts I lacked before and without making mistakes. I feel good when I help someone while I work, and I will also continuously strive to help them feel safe and receive good treatment.

I am still lacking in many ways and am not an expert, but I am satisfied with the fact that I am changing to be better today than yesterday. I want to show off to my husband that I am doing well, and I am becoming a mother that my daughter can be proud of. I am so proud of myself for working hard on my own.

I am truly grateful to the Seoul Family Center. If I have the chance next year, I would like to participate in various programs as well.

“My favorite program, job training”

Hello. My name is Hwang Min-ji from Vietnam. I am very interested in the trade field, but I haven't got the opportunity to study about it. I applied for the one-person trade global seller training program at the Seoul Family Center on the My Seoul app.

I finally got to study the program I like. I gained confidence through the advice and practical experience from the professional instructor's lecture. Now I am starting to prepare to become a global seller in the trade industry through online shopping on my own.

I am so grateful to the teachers at the Seoul Family Center. I hope there will be various programs in the future.

“Self-growth”

My name is Kim Geum-yeong. It has been 13 years since I came to Korea. I completed the Caregiver Certification Course at the Seoul Family Center and received the skill certificate.

This training was a great opportunity to acquire the knowledge and skills necessary for caregiving, and the training course was systematic and informative.

The instructor was kind, warm snacks were served, and I had fun learning.

The instructors were professional and kind, and through practical and theoretical classes, I was able to acquire the skills and knowledge necessary for actual caregiving situations. In addition, I was able to share various experiences and knowledge through interactions with other participants.

Through this opportunity, I gained confidence, built a career as a caregiver, and wanted to do something that helps others. Thank you.
